

Jesus walks on the water. Matthew 14:22-33

Today's powerful Gospel delivers a clear and succinct lesson on faith. Jesus has just miraculously fed the five thousand and now that they have gone home, he directs his disciples to cross the Sea of Galilee without him, while he goes to the mountain-top to pray. The Sea of Galilee, notoriously unpredictable in its moods, erupts into a storm. The contrary winds attack the fragile boat, and the disciples are afraid. They see Jesus walking towards them on the water and, transfixed with fear, they don't recognise him; they think he is a ghost. He calls out to them, "It is me. Don't be afraid." And then we are presented with the real miracle. Peter, having trustingly asked Jesus for his help, steps out of the boat and begins to walk towards him on the water. But then his courage fails when he takes his eyes off Jesus and focuses instead on the choppy waters. He immediately begins to sink. His failure of courage, his loss of faith, do not incur the anger of his master. He receives a gentle reprimand as Jesus holds him up and helps him onto the boat. With the presence of Jesus on the boat the winds immediately die down and the sea is calm once more.

Resting with this Gospel teaches us important truths. Jesus goes apart to pray to his heavenly Father, before crossing the waters. If we are following the way of Jesus we, too, should go apart to pray for courage and renewed faith before crossing over to new challenging terrain. In life we will often find ourselves in seas which are choppy and dangerous. Jesus tells us that to negotiate these dangerous waters, all we need is faith. We need a strong faith which does not falter in the face of danger; faith in a loving God who will keep us afloat if we call on him, who will not let us drown, because he recognises that we are striving to reveal his kingdom to others. He will teach us to do the impossible and thereby cross to a new level of consciousness.

Initially Peter, his usual enthusiastic, impulsive and loving self, does the impossible: he walks on the water. It is only when he succumbs to fear and takes his eyes off Jesus, that his faith fails and he begins to sink. Peter at this stage of his life, is most like those of us whose love of God and belief in eternal life are often shaken by fear; fear of death; fear of failure; fear of loss. Let us listen to Jesus who, time and time again, tells us not to be afraid because he is always with us, holding us up, teaching to do the impossible: to walk fearlessly on stormy waters.
